DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group II, claims 2-5, in the reply filed on February 8, 2006 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 2, 3, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over JP 07258803.

JP 07258803 in abstract discloses the features including the claimed Ti-Cu alloy composition, cold rolling, precipitation/solution/aging treatment, cold rolling, and stress relaxation annealing. As stated in In re Peterson, 315 F.3d 1325, 1329-30, 65 USPQ2d

Art Unit: 1742

1379, 1382 (Fed. Cir. 2003), that “A prima facie case of obviousness typically exists when the ranges of a claimed composition/steps overlap the ranges disclosed in the prior art”. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select any portion of range, including the claimed range, from the broader range disclosed in a prior art reference because the prior art reference finds that the prior art composition in the entire disclosed range has a suitable utility. Also see MPEP § 2131.03 and § 2123.

With respect to the instant claim 3 that the recited stress relaxation annealing step named different from the aging step as disclosed by cited reference. However, the instant recited annealing temperature and time ranges are anticipated by cited reference. Therefore, ordinary skill artisan would recognize that the name of instant stress relaxation annealing may be different from cited reference, but the different named steps are function the same because the instant recited annealing temperature and time ranges are anticipated by cited reference.

Claims 2, 4, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over JP 62047466.

JP 62047466 in abstract discloses the features including the claimed Ti-Cu alloy composition, cold rolling, precipitation/solution/aging treatment, cold rolling, and stress relaxation annealing. As stated in In re Peterson, 315 F.3d 1325, 1329-30, 65 USPQ2d 1379, 1382 (Fed. Cir. 2003), that “A prima facie case of obviousness typically exists when the ranges of a claimed composition/steps overlap the ranges disclosed in the prior art". Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select any portion of range, including the claimed range, from the broader range disclosed in a prior art reference because the prior art reference finds that the prior art composition in the entire disclosed range has a suitable utility. Also see MPEP § 2131.03 and § 2123.

The cited reference does not disclose finish cold rolling reduction rate range but it is known in the art of cited reference that finish cold rolling reduction rate range is less than or same as draft cold rolling reduction range because finish rolling is used for correct distortion or leveling.

Conclusion

The above rejection relies on the reference(s) for all the teachings expressed in the text(s) of the references and/or one of ordinary skill in the metallurgical art would have reasonably understood or implied from the text(s) of the reference(s). To emphasize certain aspect(s) of the prior art, only specific portion(s) of the text(s) have been pointed out. Each reference as a whole should be reviewed in responding to the rejection, since other sections of the same reference and/or various combination of the cited references may be relied on in future rejection(s) in view of amendment(s).

All recited limitations in the instant claims have been met by the rejections as set forth above.

Applicant is reminded that when amendment and/or revision is required, applicant should therefore specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.121 and 37 C.F.R. Part §41.37 (c)(1)(v).
